

CURTIS PRECISION POWER AWARENESS

Kerry Green, Director of European Support Engineering at Curtis Instruments has a very simple, important question. How important is your forklift to your business?

If you rely on moving stock in or out of your premises, arguably it's as important as your website and phone system. Hopefully, your forklift is well maintained and serviced regularly; so how about the charger that it relies on every day? Choosing the right charger is critical for maintaining a healthy battery and a fully operational forklift. It's important the battery has enough charge at the start of each shift to last throughout the different drives and demands of your production schedule.

And this is where Curtis UK with their long established pedigree leads the way with many different types of battery charger available to suit different requirements and environments. Selecting the right Curtis charger for your truck will help its battery to last longer and perform better, doing you a better turn in the long run. You spend several thousand pounds on the right battery, so a few hundred pounds on the right charger ought to be one of your wiser decisions!

The unrivalled Curtis choice covers models available from 12V to 96V, 50Hz or High Frequency, single or three phase supply with custom colours and branding at no extra cost. Other major features include dual-voltage options and weatherproof cabinets, plus the latest operating diagnostics and Active Power Factor Correction technology. All of these are further complemented by a full range of accessories including REMA connectors, BDIs (Battery Discharge Indicators) and weatherproof cabinets plus the acclaimed and award nominated Acuity Battery Monitoring System for fleet management and warranty control.

So why spend precious time shopping around Europe when all this is available on your doorstep at Curtis UK's huge Northampton warehouse. Full of chargers and forklift care and safety equipment, right in the centre of the country so you can receive your stock next day. You get to support your business as well as the home market whilst Curtis always supports you with highly trained staff and 3 to 5 year warranties on chargers and 2 years for care & safety products.

All of this is covered in a new user-friendly brochure entitled Precision Power Awareness; for a copy of the new brochure or for further details please contact Curtis UK on 01604 885201; email: info@curtisinst.co.uk or visit: www.curtisinst.co.uk
